TOPNEWS-Online

Volume 22, Issue 8 Supplement     August 2019

Prepared by Tom Pusateri, STP Executive Director, stp@teachpsych.org

Tom Pusateri took all the convention photos in this supplement except as noted.

Visit https://tinyurl.com/STP-APA2019 for these and additional photos organized by session number. Feel free to download and share!

If you notice any errors or if you have photos from sessions that do not appear in the collection, please contact Tom Pusateri at the email above.

To view additional photos on Twitter, visit @APAEducation, August 8-11, 2019.

STP@APA 2019 CONVENTION, CHICAGO

STP PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS................................. 2
STP SOCIAL HOUR.............................................. 2
PRESIDENTIAL CITATIONS AND RECOGNITIONS 3
APF CHARLES L. BREWER TEACHING AWARD ...... 4
G. STANLEY HALL LECTURES AND HARRY KIRKE
WOLFE LECTURE.................................................. 5

INVITED ADDRESSES............................................. 6
POSTER SESSIONS............................................. 8
PRESENTATIONS AND PANEL SESSIONS...........10
A TRIBUTE TO CHARLES BREWER.........................13
APA IN WASHINGTON, DC - AUGUST 6-9, 2020 . 14

APA 2019 Photo Booth

STP President-Elect Amy Fineburg and Garth Neufeld

Jamie McMinn, Director of STP Programming at APA, speaks to Rick Miller, 2019 STP President

View of the Chicago skyline from the McCormick Place Convention Center

Regan Gurung, 2011 STP President, and Tom Pusateri, STP Executive Director
STP PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

President Rick Miller presented his address, “In the Beginning…. There Was Undergraduate Student Research”

STP SOCIAL HOUR
PRESIDENTIAL CITATIONS AND RECOGNITIONS

(The text on this page was originally printed in the August 2019 issue of this newsletter.)

One of the great joys of being STP president is being able to recognize those individuals who have provided outstanding service over the years to our division.

At the APA Convention, I was honored to give a Presidential Citation to Barney Beins. Barney’s contributions to teaching have involved active service to STP and APA as well as his involvement with the Advanced Placement Test. There is not much that STP does that Barney Beins has not been a part of, including editing our e-publications, serving on the editorial board of Teaching of Psychology, advising TOPSS, and working with psychology teachers at community colleges. He has served on or chaired a multitude of STP committees including the G. Stanley Hall/Harry Kirke Wolfe Lecture Series, Project Syllabus, and the Computer Initiatives Committee to name but a few.

I presented a Special Recognition to Chris Cardone, the psychology editor at Worth Publishers. Chris is a true friend of teachers of psychology. She does not compromise quality in the name of profit, and she is a cheerleader for her authors even when their current books are with another publisher. She has been a serious advocate of research in support of teaching. After working in psychology for so long, she actually understands the discipline in ways that most other editors don’t. In addition, when projects end, Chris maintains contact with authors and supports them.

I presented a Recognition for Service to Lyra Stein. For the past several years, Lyra has served, first as co-editor and more recently as sole editor of the E-xcellence in Teaching series. Lyra has been indefatigable in soliciting manuscripts on interesting topics and has helped authors to bring out the best in their writing. Lyra took over the sole editing job when Bill Altman became Vice President. She also stayed on an extra year to help create staggered editing posts, while helping to train the incoming editor. Thank you, Lyra.

Finally, I was able to recognize Jamie McMinn’s years of service in organizing the STP program at APA. Through his efforts and involvement in STP at APA, literally thousands of STP, and more importantly, non-STP members have been introduced to the leading scholars of teaching of psychology that invariably has had a profound impact on teachers around the country and the world. Jamie is incredible and has become the wizard of division programming at APA. Candy Won at APA has relied heavily on him to mentor other division chairs. Thanks, Jamie.

Rick Miller, STP President
R. Eric Landrum, Ph.D., Boise State University, was this year’s recipient of the American Psychological Foundation’s (APF) Charles L. Brewer Award for Distinguished Teaching of Psychology. His award citation begins: “R. Eric Landrum is an inspiring, passionate teacher, a productive scholar, and a tireless crusader for education.”

At the convention, Dr. Landrum delivered his award address.
G. STANLEY HALL LECTURES AND
HARRY KIRKE WOLFE LECTURE

At each APA Convention, the Society for the Teaching of Psychology, in collaboration with the Education Directorate of APA, sponsors the G. Stanley Hall Lecture Series and the Harry Kirke Wolfe Lecture. In these talks, renown experts deliver cutting-edge talks designed specifically for other teachers of psychology. Each presenter delivers the lecture at the APA Convention and one of the upcoming regional psychology conferences.

The G. Stanley Hall Lecture Series began in 1980 and was designed to advance the teaching of introductory psychology. A history of the G. Stanley Hall lectures can be found here and a historical archive of past speakers can be seen here. This year’s G. Stanley Hall Lecturers were Daniel Willingham, University of Virginia and Antonio E. Puente, University of North Carolina Wilmington.

The Harry Kirke Wolfe Lecture Series began in 1992, when the G. Stanley Hall Lecture Series was expanded to include a talk about the teaching of teaching, by a scholar of the teaching of psychology. A historical archive of past speakers can be seen here. This year’s lecturer was David Daniel, James Madison University. Jane Halonen introduced the lecture with an apt quotation.

Dr. Krista Puente Trefz introduced her father.
INVIDED ADDRESSES

Best Practices, Unusual Opportunities, and Resources in Conducting Undergraduate Research

President Rick Miller introduces the speakers

Perceptions of Bad Test-Taking Skills at the College Level: An Exploration

Jeffrey Holmes
GSTA Invited Address sponsored by STP’s Graduate Student Teaching Association
Morton Gernsbacher, University of Wisconsin, Madison
“Teaching Research Transparency in Psychology: How And Why”

The Diane Halpern Lecture sponsored by APA’s Committee on Associate and Baccalaureate Education (CABE)
Melissa Beers, The Ohio State University

Lee Gurel Lecture
Both sponsored by APA Teachers of Psychology in Secondary Schools
Jeffrey Stowell, Eastern Illinois University
"Find Out What Students Know Before It’s Too Late! Assessment Strategies for Intro Psychology"

Randal M. Ernst Lecture
Cedar Riener, Randolph-Macon College
"Mythbusting with Care: Teaching Cognitive Psychology to Students Who’ve Made Up Their Minds"

Ruth H. Cousins Distinguished Lecture sponsored by Psi Beta
Garth Neufeld, Cascadia College
“For Innovation’s Sake: Breaking the Unwritten Rule of College Teaching”
POSTER SESSIONS

Here is a sample of STP posters and Psi Beta student research posters presented during the convention. STP (APA Division 2) nominated two posters for entry into APA’s “Science at Sunset” poster competition.

Entry from an APA Member of Division 2 (B-3, Friday session, pictured at the top right on this page): Kiril Stauč (Oklahoma State University - Stillwater), “The World is Your Laboratory: Using Comparative Psychology to Help Students Understand Research”

Entry from an APA Student Affiliate/APAGS member of Division 2 (B-8, Saturday session, pictured at the top right on the next page): Amy M Biggerstaff, B.S. (University of Central Missouri) “Exploring Motivations for Student Absences After Exams”

FRIDAY STP POSTER SESSION
Psi Beta students presented posters on research they conducted with their faculty mentors.
PRESENTATIONS AND PANEL SESSIONS

Jeanne Slattery, Shannon Audley, Vicky Lomay, Lyra Stein
“Project Syllabus: All Syllabi Can become Social Justice Syllabi”

David Jull-Patterson and Audience Discussions
“Helping Graduate Students Develop and Effectively Use Their Competence Constellation”

Regan Gurung (left and insert), Sue Frantz (center) and Eric Landrum (right photo, right foreground)
“Content vs. Skill in Introductory Psychology: Finally, the Great Debate”

Garth Fowler, Karen Stamm
“Exploring Skills, Traits, and Competencies Psychologists Use in the Workforce”

Curtis Brant, Shana Pack
“Competency-Based Education as a Framework for Teaching Psychology: Undergraduate to Doctorate”
Meera Komarraju, Dana Dunn, Dan Segrist (presenting in audience photo), Guy Boysen, Sue Frantz
“So You Want to Be a Psychology Professor? Landing a Job at Different Kinds of Colleges”

Kristin Bransford, Rachel Sjodin
“Faculty-Student Dialogues: Academic Growth Through Learning how to Enhance our Existing Strengths”

Jeral Kirwan, Joseph (Trevor) Belcher, William Gibson
“Therapizing in the Online Classroom: A Discussion of Ethical Challenges and Opportunities for Faculty”

Brandy Blount, Felice Mayes
“Developing Cultural Competency with Online Learners”

Stacie Spencer, Jason Young, Jaye Van Kirk, Todd Joseph
CABE Symposium: “From Education to Employment: Teaching Psychology Skills as Currency for the Job Market”

Kate Richmond, Mindy Erchull, Asia Eaton, Kim Case
“Integrating an Intersectional Perspective into Our Classrooms: Resources and Practical Advice”
Antoinette Minniti, Greg Neimeyer, Meghan Cody, Jennifer Kim Penberthy, Bruce Liese
“So Many Continuing Education (CE) Options, So Little Time: What Psychologists Want and Need from CE”

Kristel Nazzal
“Inclusive Pedagogy Development Process: Increasing Academic Success of All Students”

Teresa Ober, Rachel Soicher, Steven Almaraz (presenting at right), Melissa Beers, Kristina Howansky (online)
“Elevating Graduate Student Teaching: A Workshop To Develop Essential Career Skills”

Melissa Beers, Garth Neufeld, Dana Dunn, Katherine Wickes, Jennifer Thompson, Regan Gurung
CABE Symposium (IPI Steering Committee members): “The Introductory Psychology Initiative”
(Photo courtesy of Jane Halonen)

Jennifer Dyer-Seymour (center)
“Teaching by the Seat of Our Pants: Principles of Improvisational Theater to Teaching”
(Photo courtesy of Jane Halonen)
A TRIBUTE TO CHARLES BREWER

Past ToP Editor Randy Smith and 1999-2000 STP President Jane Halonen hosted a two-hour “Community Farewell to Teaching of Psychology’s Hero – Charles Brewer”

Diane Halpern (1997-1998 STP President and 2004 APA President) shared an anecdote about the number of Jefferson Cups Charles received for his many years of service on APA Boards and Committees.

Dorothy Cantor (1996 APA President and past President of the American Psychological Foundation relayed stories of Charles’s service on APA’s Board of Directors.

STP President Rick Miller shared his memories of Charles Brewer.

STP President-Elect Amy Fineburg led the audience in Charles’s favorite Furman University cheer.
APA 2019 in Chicago is now over, and I hope attendees had great experiences while learning about innovative and effective teaching and while networking with STP colleagues. I am deeply appreciative of all members who submitted proposals, reviewed proposals, and joined us for STP sessions at APA 2019. It has been a pleasure to plan Division 2’s APA program for the last seven conventions, and I remain humbled by the generosity, wisdom, and collegiality of STP members. This is an amazing community!

I also am pleased to have spent this year working with Missy Beers as she takes over planning for APA-STP. She is already hard at work on next year’s convention in Washington, DC. The division is going to be in excellent hands, and I look forward to all the great ideas that Missy will bring to APA 2020 and beyond.

Speaking of APA 2020, take it away, Missy!

APA IN WASHINGTON, DC - AUGUST 6-9, 2020

by Missy Beers, incoming Director of STP Programming at APA

Thanks so much, Jamie! Over the last few months Jamie has been incredibly generous and patient in sharing his time to help me learn the ropes and prepare to take on the role of Division 2 program chair in 2020. I’ll be doing my best to live up to the high standards and terrific programming STP has achieved under his direction for the last seven years. Jamie has certainly earned my respect and admiration for his outstanding work as program chair, and I know that sentiment is shared throughout our division.

Along with our incoming president Amy Fineburg, our goal for the 2020 program is to maintain the same high quality of programs to support teaching and learning in psychology at all levels, and to encourage proposals that enhance diversity in teaching, expand teacher training and development (particularly graduate student training), and build resources to teach open science. The Call for Proposals will be available on APA’s website in early September. I hope to see STP continue to be well-represented in 2020 and beyond!

Thank you, Jamie McMinn, for your years of service as Director of STP Programming at APA!